Not illustrated. 1913 Excerpt: .It shows how much attention can be given to supervision. I worked on an average, about 18 hours per day, with results unsatisfactory to myself and disadvantageous to the company. To show some of the discipline (?) on that road in comparison with the operation of the German railroads of which we have heard this evening, permit me to relate a personal experience with a passenger train flagman. One of the cars of a train on which I was traveling West one morning, developed a very hot box, which compelled us to stop to fix it. The conductor told the rear brakeman, whom he called Jack, to go back with the flag. He then went forward to hurry the work on the hot box. I was interested in seeing where Jack went. Being wreck master I wasn t looking for any job in that line (laughter). I found Jack about 500 feet or so to the rear of the train, leaning against a rock complacently smoking a cigarette, whereas, according to our book of rules he should have gone back from 15 to 17 telegraph poles along the line. I asked him if he was flagging the train. His reply was gruff and he wanted to know who in h was flagging this train. I told him as far as I could see no one was. With still more abuse he wanted to know who in the devil I was, anyway. I then informed him that...
